West High On Parade..

Marching in tempo to the educational pace of a free America, West High students step lively in their trek schoolward, confident in the future of our democratic way of life.

Marching not to the martial music of war, destruction and suffering, which has characterized the world the past several years, West students, typical of other teen-agers, accept the challenge of solving social, political, and economic problems which confront all of us.

More than three-score West High boys made the supreme sacrifice in World War II.

West High students are resolved to carry out the principles for which our gold star boys fought.

This can be achieved by schooling our God-given powers, and harnessing the potential resources in the direction of serving our fellow-man.

Think AH'll leave mah' corner and wander a bit.

Howdy Folks! Where would you like to go?

1. Well, first of all, let's visit that thar new telephone for students only. In the first picture, we find Barbara See using the phone. Behind her is Katie Adams; I believe that's Don Borrer waiting next.

2. Picture 2. Now let me see: Oh, yes, that's the grand rush of the bell. Coming down the stairs is Jeri Sherwood, Jack Thrush, Ralph Theimt, Gene DeMere and Connie Mebel. "Going-up," facing the camera, of course, are Zoe Sipper, Marilyn Swearengin, Rita Russell, Dick Holycross, Jess Saunders, Irene Mackey, Richard Ross, Kenneth Hoover and Bill Groomes.

3. Now let's "mosey" over to snap shot 3. In this picture, we find artists at work. The room was not in its best condition at the time, but what can you expect of an art room! Mixing the paint is Barbara Lamneck. The artists are Ned Moore and Don Volz.

4. Stumbling over to the machine, we find Robert Ramsey hard at work. Wonder what he's makin'?

5. After crawling all over the page, I finally found the office. It seems we interrupted somepin' important. Miss Blanche Kern, vice-principal, and Irvin Young, principal, are busy dictating to the office clerk, Mrs. Wolford, and monitor Kathryn Bauder.

Well, I reckon I'll go on up to my corner and sit a spell. Hope you enjoyed yourself. Aw no! I couldn't think of 'cepting any money, it was a pleasure to show you around.

So We'll Remember

By Halsey

The day is January 23, 1946, commencement day at West High School. This starts our life and what we make of it.

Remembering our vow that we would meet ten years later in reunion, the class goes out into the world.

Ten years pass quickly and here it is—1956. Our place of meeting is to be the cafeteria as if it were any other class meeting.

The crowd is coming now. There's Frank Deyo and Willis Pfaltzgraf, internationally known cinder-men, and Jim Remington, professional basketball star.

One by one, they gather, to greet, meet, and reminisce. The meeting is called to order by president Bob Cassell, while Janet Smith is taking notes just as was done ten years prior. We can't help but notice the old familiar groups. Seated at one table is Barbara Allison, Vivian Bishop, Pat Bohanan, Shirley Borland, Jane McDaniels, Mary Beth Frasure, Joan Jessup and Marilyn Kitchen, reliving some of their many joyous hours at West.

The silence is broken by v.-president Jim Heyl welcoming everyone and Connie Galle still figuring who did and who didn't pay his class dues.

"Mac" McMillen and Bob Miles seem to be enjoying themselves. They are probably talking about Mr. Washburn's P. O. D. class and remembering Frances Tannehill's laugh at the many humorous things that came up. Remember how silent Pat Saint and Phil Fulton used to be? Fred Findeis still claiming no one understood him; good ole Fred; Byron Baker arguing about gambling with the mayor. Vivian Britlinger pointing out the finer things of the Navy; and, of course, Doris Evans and Phyllis Converse agree completely.

Remember the gang that used to gather at Ed Moore's locker? It was Ed's magnetic personality, plus Bob Mack's locker full of good things to eat that were the attractions.

David Tingley and Roy Torr putting their master minds together to invent a new atomic bomb . . . This one is designed to turn out tardy permits to fit every need. And Francis Sapp giving everyone that Pepsodent smile.

'Tis time to bring the meeting to a close and we must part again and go on with our separate lives—never to forget our memorable days at West.

Along The Trail

By Sherritt

Out here in the star-lit West, we light the camp fire, and as its smoke curls up many memories, both good and otherwise, float back on the wisps of smoke. Will we ever forget the ready smiles Jeri Sherwood and Norma Jean Carter had for everyone, or that honey-laden voice of Gladys Ison? The setting sun would form a perfect painting for Al Parlette, Ned Moore, or Olga Ashelman. While off in the distance we could hear Tom Witherspoon and Kitty Lawwell harmonizing on some Cowboy ballad. Maudie Jackson, Ruby Albertini, and Shirley Uridil are with us, along the trail . . . their mutual affection for horses make the range a perfect background for them.

There are but a few of us still pursuing the sun on its course but when we start reminiscing, many others join us. Ginny Herbert amuses us with the stories of her old gang and their escapades. Howard Young and Marion Watkins bring up all our Senior activities, such as the knee dance at the Senior Cyclone, where many "bit the dust." "Bum" Dean, Jack Buckingham and Dick Slager are good for many thoughts of hectic moments in our sport life, like the night we beat North in football. Jo Doyle and Margie Calentine are still resting after all the work they did in editing the Occident and Annual. Vince Embleton and Darrell Hall stir up a recollection of their famous quartet days, singing "Cross Country" at so many dances. Seeing a comet streak across the sky reminds us of Austin Hutt zooming around the track, and Jim Price vaulting gracefully over the bars. The stars seem to glow a little brighter remembering Mary Lou Heaney with her pleasant word for everyone.

Sandy Soph Bar X

By Sherritt

Out in the West we have many ranches—those that are really “worked”—and those that are for the people with money to squander. The name of the dude ranch we have in mind is the Sandy Soph Bar X and it's owned by Sue Elleman, the girl who can really cook. A few of her helpers are Jeanne Moore, who charms the guests with her big brown eyes, Cherry Moss, the hostess and queen of the ranch, and Martha Dietsch, who always sneaks off to the town movies. The head cowboys are Don Hutchison, who keeps the gang in laughs, Sandy Kaufman—the prankster, and Gordie Welker—as silent as the prairie. This is such a big ranch that it has two foremen, Danny Miles, the “Smile” king and Paul Theisen, the “Talker.” This hy'a ranch is really a high-falootin', two-gun shootin' place. There's even a floor-show every Saturday night with Dick Borrer as the blushing emcee. Joan and Nancy Bussart in a sister act, Virginia Jones with a different dance routine every week, Donna Beck and her smooth singing, and Don Speakman, Dick Holycross and Ronnie Burgoon as the Swing Trio,—best when swinging “So Low and Far Away.” The big added attraction is a great play—the best actresses and actors in the world are featured in it. This week we have Dolly “Hair” Firman as the heroine, Donny Woodland as the big, brave cowboy, and Tom Higgins, taking time off from J. L. to be our bashful but bold villain. This stupendous production is met with approval from the ranch's many guests, among whom are Wanda Williams of the ski-jump nose, Jo Duffy, still stiff from a five-minute broncho ride, Billie Lombard, darting around every place she's not supposed to be, Barbara Clarken of the dimples and giggle fame, and Lois Pickens always thinking up things to do. Our ranch has men guests, too, such as Robin Schmidt, a retired strong man, Don Kunzi—just grinning around, and Pat Collins being a pal to all.

A group of the guests went on a trip to a reservation the other day and saw such sights as Bruce Langton and Ernie Auburn trying to act like Indians, Donna Spring being initiated as a tribe princess, Vera Smith and Shirley Thurell endeavoring to get an old Navajo to lower the price of his rugs. “Pug” Herbert giving a lecture on cleanliness, while Biddy Flemming sits around feeding Connie and Corinne Taylor hot tamalies—Fay Grassel and Joan Mason looking slightly confused as they gaze at the armadillo baskets but Jack Kelly acting as if he understood all about such things.

Interesting incidents of the trip were Glen Schroeder's attempts to move a stubborn mule off the road, Frances Wiseman doing an acrobatic trick while riding her Pinto the whole time, Dick Husch finally consenting to sing, and Don Fisher trying to find a good place to start a ranch of his own.

Back at the ranch again we find Dick Ham just “loafing” around, and Jim Palmer looking for a bow and arrow so he and Chuck Weeks can go “prairie dog” shooting. No beavers out here.

So, leaving all the guests and employes happy and content, we bid good-bye to the Sandy Soph Bar X, and hit the trail for farther horizons.

Junior Town

By Halsey

The horizon is hazy-blue and there is a cool breeze blowing gently as we visit Junior Town, Texas. Junior Town is typical of any other Texas town, except that the people are a little more easy-going.

As we enter the village we notice the sign which reads, "Population, 376." You won't find Junior Town on any map but it is between a cactus and a coyote on that great expanse known as Texas.

As in every other small town, you will find the general store located in the center of activity. Every inhabitant of Junior Town manages to stop and exchange the community gossip in the course of the day. We walk in and whom do we see but our old classmates, Don Borrer and Jack Trimmer, owners. Their main claim is the store that sets in the center of this thriving place of business. You can walk in any day and see Sam Richardson, the barber; Frank Ongaro, town banker; Dr. Ralph Watts; Harold Carter, carpenter; or even Dick Melvin, livery owner just "settin' around" swapping yarns. The mayor, Jim Bush, is no exception. To remain here and meet them all would take hours. Let's leave this dwelling to see what the rest of the town offers.

What luck! The yearly rodeo is starting today. This always brings excitement galore because of the famed horseman Jimmy Slager. His daring courage is known throughout the land.

We enter the crowded arena, take our seats and look about in amazement. Dressed in boots and ten gallon hats, are riders Julie Ammon, Rosemary Shoemaker, and Janet Baker on galloping horses. They announce the main event, "trick riding". The gate is slowly lifted and the crowd cheers as Joann Lombard, Marilynn Mack, Janet Bigler, and Joy Bliss gallop gracefully into the center of the arena. They, in turn, introduce Clum and Dale, those fearless, bareback riders.

Well, what's this coming' in? No, it can't be, but it is—Andy Anderson and Jack Thrush in their new store-bought suits just in from Kansas City.

Reckon we better mosey along now, the crowd's starting to leave and gather at the barn for a square dance. Promenadin' are George Lohr and Teddy Hill, Jack Abram and Shirley Keitzman.

Lots of familiar faces here, but we can't get around to them all, so I guess this ends our visit to Junior Town. We bid farewell to the cacti, coyotes and our dear friends. We leave in happy spirits and ride on, thoughts behind us to remember always.

IN MEMORY OF OUR BELOVED CLASSMATE AND FRIEND, TOM KILLIAN, WHO PASSED AWAY FEBRUARY 21, 1946

A loyal student and friend to all,
He answered the cry of Heaven's call,
He was honest, truthful and sincere;
His memory will linger throughout the years.

The clubs this year have been very active in promoting interest and spirit throughout the school. The officers have led well, and the members have co-operated in all the undertakings.

The activities do not stop with clubs though,—they follow through with every worthwhile enterprise that goes on around the school.

These various organizations promote sportsmanship, leadership, dependability, and interest in all school happenings.

We wish to take this time to thank all the club and organization sponsors, for their services, and now turn to the page and look for yourself at the various pictures that follow. You reflect your school; your school reflects you.

Stage Crew

A hard working group of students that are always behind every show on the West High stage are the boys of the stage crew. Working swiftly and silently on the many lighting effects, backgrounds and stage settings, their only reward is the satisfaction of knowing that a production has been a hit.

The boys are required to make several field trips to different theaters during the year; these trips aid them in getting knowledge of stage-craft.

As a stage crew hand the student must also know the basic terms of many crafts such as electricity, carpentry, painting and simple mechanics.

They Major in Stagecraft

1st: Sonny Sahr, Harold Trump, Eddie Leonard, Dick McSaveny.

2nd: Roger Geist, Leon Brown, Jerry Chinn, Ken Dickerson.

3rd: Tim Wise, Dick Palmer.

In Front: Mrs. Hall, advisor.

Student Council

The Student Council chose as one of its projects this year the maintenance of the stage. It tried to make the stage crew feel that someone was behind it and if they needed any new equipment the Student Council would try to get it for them.

The group backed many campaigns, including the "Dispatch paper-phone home," infantile paralysis, courtesy, and victory stamps. The climax of the latter was the Victory Bond Auction, sponsored by the Senior Class and Student Council.

The Council, throughout the year, has supported a number of money making projects. The Pigskin Prance was the social high-spot of the year's activities; it also sponsored Monday noon-dances, a Variety Show, and sold football programs and beanies. This money has been used for improving the stage, completing the purchase of a time-clock and furnishing free basketball programs.

Present Operetta

This was the first operetta to be presented here at West since 1942 and was a great success. The Glee Club had fun producing it, and we believe the audience enjoyed the finished performance.

The story, in short, concerned a lost king married in infancy, two gondoliers, one of whom was believed the king, and both of whom were recently married. The plot thickens when Casilda, the infant bride of the king falls in love with Luiz the drummer boy, and the gondoliers take over the court of Barataria, placing everyone on an equal standing. There is a happy ending though, as in all Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, when Luiz is found to be the real king and the gondoliers set off for home with their happy brides.

There were many laughs at the antics of Marco and Guiseppe, and sighs at the tender love scenes through-out the complete play.

We've heard rumors that next year is bringing forth another operetta, and we seniors regret that we will not be here to take part in it.

School To Me

By Sheritt

School is fundamentally a building—large and beautiful; it is the fountain of knowledge; it is something which we are required, by law, to attend, but to me, it's much more than that. It's a lot of little things—disappointments, successes, and many diverse experiences.

There are the big things, of course, but it's the little events that I remember the most. Of course I was happy and thrilled when we won a game—but it was seeing the faces of those players afterwards that left the deepest impression; there was never a "smug" look among them, only joy of having played well and won fairly. I could also weep with grief over the loss of an important game, but seeing the team members walk over to the winners and congratulate them was always what touched me the most. Surely they wanted to cry and storm, just as I was doing, but there was too much pride and honesty to permit such an act.

School, I repeat, is little things, it's meeting your "One and Only," (at the time) between classes; it's sharing a box of "cheez-its" or an apple in study hall—food that tasted all the sweeter since it was forbidden; it was hating to get up in the mornings, hating it so at times, we just "over-slept". And what about the dare-devilish feeling we had when we'd cut a class or go to 'Broad Street during lunch—and the accompanying sheepish expression we'd have as we'd walk into Detention Room in payment for our escapade? Oh no, school isn't a place to be an angel. They really don't expect us to be. After all, what a dull life even the teachers would have, if it weren't for the "problems" along the way.

There are so many memories, how can I say them all. Of course we were glad to get an "A" on a test paper, but other thoughts linger longer. The "chemistry" smell that drifted through the halls, the conversations in health class, the "ooey-gooley" feel of dissecting a frog in physiology, stories told by teachers, getting lost the first week in the building, having "words" with friends and faculty members, embarrassing moments such as dropping our tray in the Cafe, that slight case of indigestion we'd get on Mondays from bolting our food and "Cincyng" the rest of the 6th period.

School isn't all books, and teachers' looks—it's experimenting with life, and building up a background for the rest of our lives. It's not all the big things like being in something on the stage, or winning a contest, or earning a scholarship. It's the minute events that lead up to these greater happenings; the stage fright that turning our knees to water, the sorrow for the loser, and the long hours of studying. All these accompany the more important occurrences.

And now we're ready to quit all these "little things" and go out into the Great Big World. There will be many different things, but basically it will all be the same. The same rules apply and it's still the unimportant happenings that count the most. So, we say goodbye to a happy life with tears, but we also greet a new life with a smile, because we know we'll conquer it, just as we did in school.

Under the able leadership of our coaches, West has led the way in many sports this year, and although they may have lost sometimes, their sportsmanship was always tops. This quality was also observed in the student-body which followed the teams around and helped boost their morale.

Next year brings promises of many innovations such as stadium lights, electric scoreboards, tennis, swimming, and others. We also say goodbye to Coach Dale Rose, one of the finest men we have known, and hello to a new coach whom we know will also be grand.

And now we're glad to introduce you to the athletic teams, coaches, clubs, and cheer-leaders.

First row: Constance Galle, Kathryn Adams, Margaret Halsey.

The 1946 issue of the Occident-Annual is proud to present our lovely queen and court.

At the 1945 Homecoming football game played on Magly field between West and Aquinas, Kathryn Adams, accompanied by her court, Mary Lou Heaney, Pat Boyle, Margaret Halsey, and Connie Galle, reigned supreme.

Dressed in bright colors and fur coats the girls arrived in three convertibles. Preceding them were two horseback riders, and following was Wests' great marching band which played "Beautiful Katie", in honor of our queen.

Although West lost the game, the gloom was brightened by the presence of these lovely ladies, and the Homecoming Dance, sponsord by the alumni that evening was a great success.

The much-envied girls were presented with gifts from the student-body and alumni that evening and members from both teams were introduced.

For the first time since 1937 West is again in possession of the coveted Hurley Trophy award for City Football Champions. West, however, is sharing the award with East. The Bengals fought the Cowboys to a scoreless tie in one of the feature games of the season.

West was hampered throughout the year by a great many injuries. Among those on the injured list were: Bill Smith, Bud Dean, Jack Buckingham, Bob Snouffer and Ed Moore.

The season was opened when a powerful Springfield team defeated the smaller Cowboy squad. West revenged this defeat however, by giving Marion-Harding one of the worst beatings in their football career.

The West boys went through the city league teams without a single defeat until the homecoming game with Aquinas. In this game Aquinas was the underdog, although they had been the pre-season favorites in the city league. West was the victim of a great many bad breaks and Aquinas managed to capitalize on these.

In the final game West met North, in the feature game of the year. The Polar Bears were the favorites, but West outplayed them so that they were hardly in the game after the first quarter.

Through the season West was led by their all-high representatives, Dick Slager, Bob Miles and Bill Eckle. Dick was honorable mention on the All-Ohio Team. Bob Snouffer and Dick Slager were chosen co-captains of the Cowboy team. It is hoped that the future teams of West will live up to the standards set for them by the '45 team.

The closing game—sophomore-senior champion—it was played with sophomore leadership of Rose Byrum. The sophomores were trounced 10 to 6 by the seniors, who were hailed the 1946 Basketball Champions.

Al Parlette, Janice Hill, Louise Henry, Jo Navin, Ruby Albertini, Marion Watkins.

Our peppy cheerleaders led us in yells all through the year. They were "right there" at all the games, no matter where or when and they always looked neat in their snappy outfits. We're mighty proud of this crew that worked so hard, and we know the ones next year will be just as alert in building up the morale of the team, and fans.

Calendar of Remember When

By SHERRITT

- September 4—The first day back in school. Classes were in a turmoil, lockers were "lost," and you greeted friends you'd missed all summer.
- September 25—The first assembly and our new principal, Irvin Young, was introduced. He impressed us then as a real friend—and he proved it in the months that followed.
- September-October-November—Our fine marching band out on a "real show" at all the games, while the team played top-notch ball.
- November 1—Sixth period dances came back, and with them the ability of working off some of that excess weight by some "Cincy" steps with a dash of "Rockin'."
- November 2—The homecoming game and dance where we crowned our lovely queen and court, and met many old grads.
- November 9—We Beat North !!! What we Seniors had been waiting three years to have come true, and what a celebration went on afterwards.
- November 9—Co-Champs, and that wonderful—if slightly odd—trophy occupied the office for six months.
- November 16—The Senior Cyclone was held and we found out what good sports our classmates could be.
- December 7—We beat Springfield in the first, and one of the best basketball games of the year.
- December 7—The Bond Auction—something entirely different that called forth laughs for many days, such as the chicken that wouldn't sit still.
- December 11—A beautiful Christmas Assembly that brought lumps to all our throats, and the thought of Christ to our hearts.
- December 21—The Christmas Dance and its out-of-this-world floor show, with Santa Claus, mean boys, "The Night Before Christmas," and an old-fashioned nightgown.
- January 10—Gondoliers—A new venture in entertainment that turned into a happy success for both the audience and producers, and almost started a new fad of striped knee socks for the boys.
- January 23—Graduation—and the halls seemed empty without many familiar faces, but the new 10B's slipped into the old lockers, and we all moved up half-a-year.
- February 14—Cupids Carnival, with Cupid's Cutest Couple (rightly named) and everyone skating or falling merrily around.
- All Spring—The terrific teamwork of our baseball team which we hope will bring us another championship.
- All Spring—Track-Tennis-and-Golf teams carrying on in all sorts of weather to break old records and set new ones.
- March 14-15—Band Variety—A brilliant production that kept us entertained constantly—'specially with its "Torch Singer."
- March 21—That neat Latin Club Assembly, when the boys wore the "togas," and kept us in stitches all the time with their antics.
- March 29—Triangle Dance—another beautiful queen and court, and the women forming search parties to hunt down the mystery man.
- April 18—Easter Program—A fine example of the excellent assemblies we've had all year.
- May 10—Our Town—A play that really set us on our heels with its originality and the marvelous performances of all concerned.
- June 5th—Graduation again and we bid goodbye to this second home that has given us so much—in happiness and some sorrow. A new class will be moving up and we'll go out in the world. Good luck to Everyone—The old—meeting a new world and the new meeting old problems in this, the best of all high schools, WEST HIGH.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the advertisers for promoting this, the 1946 Annual. Your co-operation has helped us finance an annual of which we are proud. May your interest continue on through the years and may future classes benefit from your aid and support.

FREMONT, OHIO

Remember Henri Kinder as the happy, old duchess in the Gondoliers, and Jack Jones keeping everyone in stitches through the whole affair? Or Maggie Halsey, being beaten in the Hallowe'en play, and dead in the Senior Class production? How about the way Katie Adams used to heckle Paul Layman when he'd take over the P. O. D. classes, or the way Betty Southard and Maggie Wesley, the best of friends, would fight over basketball? Seeing Carol Bancroft reminds us of the days Jeanne Krevdo, Donna Hicks and Dick Orr rushed around meeting dead-lines for the Occident, and how about Glenn Clark's poems that livened up all the issues? The wise old plains remind us of the wisdom Jack Lausa and Richard Cave used to dish out in P. O. D., with Pat Newman, and Aleta Schwender high on the girls' I. Q. list, in all subjects. Then there were "Bev" Gracey and Faye McLaughlin, constantly together, "Bobbie" Tallman, singing to herself as she walked the halls, and Bill Masters, who hit big-time when in the 11th grade. What about Bob Phelps's brilliant pitching, Jim Myers's beating it out on the drums, Jack Rader blowing away on his sax, and Bill Eckle teaching all comers how to run a lathe? Remember "Tug" Phillips trying to restore order during the Hi-Y meetings? Bill Dawson, our "pre-party" male part of Cupid's Cutest Couple. Then there was Jim Elleman who bid good-bye to us to join the Navy, and Vance Johnston coaching the Senior basketball team.

There are many others these few hints will bring to mind, so, as the dying embers of the fire glows ever fainter, and the drifting smoke has gone away to form a cloud, our memories also are put away . . . but never forgotten.

This picture shows part of our display at the Columbus Flower Show. These are our own introductions and was the outstanding feature of the show.

OUR OWN INTRODUCTIONS

of Extra Early Flowering Varieties

The following varieties which we have developed are extra early flowering, have intense coloring, and except for those varieties marked dwarf, have stem length for cutting unusual in early varieties. All bloom in September, and have been the outstanding attraction in Hardy Mums the past two years at the Columbus Flower Show. To those who have tried our varieties introduced in 1944 and 1945 no further introduction is necessary. These varieties will add to your display, and in parts of the country where frosts come early will be the type you have been looking for.
